In Case

Kent, O., April 18.—The disappearance three weeks ago of Edwin Cox, 9, had been solved today by the discovery of his body in the Cuyahoga river about a mile from the place where he was last seen.

A. C. Worden, Portage county coroner, after examining the body, gave a verdict of death by accidental drowning. There was nothing to indicate foul play, Coroner Worden said.

The body was found late yesterday, just three weeks after the disappearance March 27. Paul Balista, 14, and four other boys were inspecting muskrat traps when young Balista saw the body on a log about 50 feet from shore. The head and one foot were above water.

Police were notified and the body was brought to a morgue here. Joseph B. Cox, grocery clerk, the victim's father, identified it. Mrs. Cox was overcome when notified. Though she expressed relief that her son's fate had been established, she said she would "make your load of sorrow less heavy to bear to know that it is shared with deepest sympathy."

The Cox boy failed to return to his home from school three weeks ago yesterday. It was at first feared that he had been kidnapped, as he was reported to have accepted a ride in a blue laundry truck. An extended search was carried on without avail by police, boy scouts and groups of private citizens. The body was found on a bridge over Breakers Creek, east of here, and that the body was carried by the current into Cuyahoga river to the point where it was found. A reward of $500 for the boy's return was offered by the county and the Balista family put in a claim with police today. Part of the reward was offered, however, only in the event the Cox boy had been kidnapped.

Burial services are to be held today and funeral rites will be held some time later. Besides his mother and father the Cox boy is survived by a sister, Dorothy, 18, and a brother, Wilbur, 12.

Paris Pulls Off With Own Power; No Danger Seen

London, April 18.—The great French liner Paris, one of the biggest and finest passenger ships plying the North Atlantic, went aground this morning on Eddystone Rocks, near Plymouth, but was released after a short time, according to advices received here from Plymouth.

The Paris was enroute from Havre to New York on her regular westward voyage. There are approximately 200 first-class passengers aboard.

The liner went aground in a thick fog as she was about to enter the Plymouth Harbor.

According to word from Plymouth at 1:30 this afternoon the Paris had freed herself from the rocks and was proceeding to Plymouth.

At the same time the London office of the French line gave out a statement that the Paris had released herself by her own power and had proceeded to Plymouth.

This statement was subsequently confirmed by advices from Plymouth.

They indicated that the big ship may have been slightly damaged, but belief was expressed that she would be able to continue her voyage to New York.

Increase In Ohio Gas
Tax Effective Today

Cooper Signs Measure To Boost Price of Fuel
One Cent

Columbus, O., April 18.—Ohio motorists awoke today to find the increased gasoline tax law, which boosts the gas tax in Ohio from three to four cents, effective.

It was a staggering blow to the motorists, because of the suddenness of enactment. They knew it was coming, but not so soon.

Gov. Cooper signed the bill late yesterday afternoon, and it became a law, effective at midnight.

All tax measures, it was explained, become effective the midnight after the governor signs them.

The increase will collect approximately $8,500,000 from the gasoline consumers each year, it has been estimated.

This is the third time, in as many sessions of the legislature, that an increased gas tax measure was levied against the motorists of the Buckeye state.

In 1925, the Ohio general assembly enacted a two-cent gas tax.

In 1927, the administration added a penny to this tax and it became three cents.

This year, the tax was boosted another cent, so that the gas tax another cent, so that the gas tax

SENATE FAVORING
DEBENTURE PLAN

Hoover Not Believed In Favor of Bounty; Farm
Leaders Laud

Washington, April 18.—The eight-year-old farm problem, which prompted President Hoover to summon congress in special session, occupied the spotlight today as the house began consideration of its new Relief Bill while the senate agriculture committee met to report a different measure.

In the house, administration leaders were predicting enactment within a week of the $500,000,000 Relief Bill which is said to have the president's approval. The measure would establish a Federal Farm Board, encourage cooperative marketing and pledge government funds to aid cooperatives and farmer organizations in marketing surplus crops.

Senate Favors Bounty
The senate committee apparently favors adding an optional export bounty plan, commonly known as the debenture plan, to its draft of farm relief. The senate bill would create a farm board, similarly to the house measure, but it would provide only $325,000,000 for financial relief. The Debenture Plan, under which tariff revenues would be used to pay farmers a bounty on exported surplus crops in times of emergency, has had a cold reception at the White House.

The bounty proposal may prove a stumbling block to the administration. Thus far Mr. Hoover has remained silent about it while farm organizations, particularly the National Grange, have demanded it as the one real form of agricultural relief. If the senate should approve it, there may be quite a dispute between the two branches of congress, since Mr. Hoover can and will control the house, and therefore could prevent its acceptance in the lower branch of congress.

Washington, April 18.—President Hoover's insistence that congress "step on it" in the handling of its very abbreviated program for the special session, wind up its work and get out of the capital as soon as possible, had congressional leaders in somewhat of a quandary today.

However, they are dutifully going to make the effort—even to the extent of abandonment of public tariff hearings by the senate.

News that Senator Smoot of Utah, chairman of the senate finance committee and highest of the high tariff Republicans in the senate, favored this unprecedented step as one way of shortening the session spread throughout the capital today, and caused no little grumbling on the part of senators interested in specific schedules.

Would Be Unusual
Whether the leaders can accomplish it or not seemed problematical. There never has been a tariff bill passed without extensive public hearings at both ends of the capital, and if the Fordney-McCumber bill can be amended without them it will mark a radical departure from traditional procedure.

The house has already devoted some seven weeks to tariff hearings and its bill is in the final process of completion.

Ordinarily, the house would pass the bill, send it along to the senate, and the finance committee of the upper house would proceed to

THE WATER REPORT

In its report made public Wednesday, the Salem water committee has presented to the people of this city the most important public improvement program that has confronted them for many years. The report embodies two features that have been discussed frequently as vital factors in the growth and welfare of this community—an adequate supply of water and a product that is pure as well as being soft enough for industrial purposes. It likewise holds out hope for a substantial reduction in both domestic and industrial rates.

Merits of the Butler project recommended in the committee report will be considered in detail later. The importance of immediate consideration of Salem's future water supply is what The News desires to emphasize at this time. A comprehensive outline of the latest project to be advanced by engineers is in the hands of city officials and a complete report is offered for public consumption.

For many months these members of the water committee have been conducting exhaustive surveys of all water sources within the Salem district. The engineering investigations have been made and details worked out by an engineer of wide experience in this particular field. Reports of other engineers who have made investigations of two or three sources of supply within the last few years have been studied and their findings compared with new developments. Several water projects discussed officially and informally have been given particular attention and finally have been eliminated because of high cost and limited supplies. In short, a comprehensive study and report of conditions in every available water field in the Salem district have been made for the first time. The result is that the people of Salem now have available for serious study and comparison every known source of water supply, large and small.

All of this study and research has meant long hours and hard work for members of the water committee appointed by former Mayor Russell. They did not attempt to rush the work through to hasty conclusions but gave more of their valuable time in order that the picture might be complete and thorough. They preferred to give ample time for the consideration of every possible detail. Their work has been done gratis, in the spirit of accomplishing something of lasting benefit to their community. It has been a wonderful example of public service, and each member of that committee deserves the whole-hearted commendation of all the residents of Salem.

Their work completed, the task of weighing the report in its every light and of giving full consideration to its recommendations devolves upon city council and other officials. To show proper appreciation of the committee's efforts, as well as to protect the interests of the city and advise the people, it is incumbent upon council to conduct a careful study of the Butler project. It is just as necessary that expensive delays be avoided by immediate consideration.

That council will do all this is taken for granted. When the time comes for public action, it is hoped that the people will have given the proposals just as much consideration. The water problem has been discussed pro and con in the past, but never before have the citizens been given such an opportunity to study every detail in the light of Salem's growth and welfare. The final decision should come only after proper consideration of the possibilities this new proposal holds for the future of Salem.

What Others Say

CHANGED VIEW OF MEXICO
One of the most interesting aspects of the Mexican rebellion is the mood in which news of it has been received in this country. In spite of easily recollected annoyances with Calles and his associates, there has been raised in this country hardly a voice to take exception to the policy of the administration in supporting the existing regime in Mexico with ammunition, supplies, and expressions of implied friendliness. Although two years have not passed since Calles was being denounced by American officials as a bolshevik and the oil companies were bitter in their denunciation of Mexican "confiscatory legislation," the Mexican government, of which Calles is the moving spirit if not the titular head, receives the fullest support of America as if its past had been as indisputably respectable as the government of England.

Probably the most important explanation of this change of attitude is the fact that the Mexican revolutionary government has ridden out so many storms that it is now considered the only established authority in Mexico, an explanation which must be supplemented with mention of the Mexican supreme court's decision in the oil lands cases and of Ambassador Morrow's labors in the vineyard of harmony. But there is also another explanation, and that lies in a growing impatience with those who appeal recklessly to force to secure their objectives. There are many in this country who accept General Escobar's statement of principles as valid and who would like to see many of them established. But the leader who takes an army into the field and irresponsibly throws a country into disorder and confusion has forfeited the right to have his principles weighed upon their own merit. By his very action he becomes not an advocate of reforms and social changes but a nuisance to be abated. It is this attitude which accounts for the almost unanimous American impatience with the revolt against Portes Gil in Mexico.

Impatience, however, is not the only expression of this country's mood. In spite of isolated dissatisfactions with this or that ineptitude or abuse on the part of the present Mexican government, the American people have come to feel that the present regime sincerely aspires to improve the economic and social condition of the Mexican masses, and with such a government Americans have sympathy even when they do not accept all its dogmas or approve its every act. Certainly they do not support attacks against such a government by military factions which fire their shots first and state their principles afterward.—Baltimore Sun.

DIET IMPORTANT IN PERNICIOUS ANEMIA

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
(United States Senator from New York)

My friend, Senator Randall, of Louisiana, has prepared a bill, proposing to establish a "National Institute of Public Health."

The Senator is disturbed over the long list of diseases which require study in order that a means of cure may be discovered.

There are a lot of these, too many for our peace of mind. In this list is found pernicious anemia.

What is "Pernicious Anemia?" You know what "anemia" is, that condition of the blood in which there is a marked decrease in the colored corpuscles of the blood. We observe a waxy condition of the skin, great weakness, and all the symptoms of lowered vitality.

Pernicious anemia is worse than this, a really serious and long-continued disease. The attacks last for months and repeatedly recur over a period of years. There are marked changes in the blood and many disagreeable symptoms. The red coloring material of the blood, essential to health and physical safety, is greatly reduced.

In this disease there is not only an unwillingness to do anything, but this weakness progresses steadily. There are occasional periods of improvement, as I have said, but it is not long before another attack appears.

There are some diseases, the effects of which are due to a failure of some organ of the body to supply a substance essential to our welfare. One such disease is diabetes, in which the secretion of the pancreas—the "sweetbread"—is reduced. This particular secretion is known as "insulin." Without it the tissues are unable to take sugar from the blood. Then trouble results.

In pernicious anemia we are not so fortunate as in the case of diabetes. In the latter disease, with the cause known, it has been found possible to give insulin and thus overcome the failure of the pancreas to make it.

In progressive anemia the missing factor has not been located and, as yet, no way is known of supplying it, as insulin is supplied. But some patient research worker will find it.

In the treatment of pernicious anemia the authorities are pretty well in agreement. They all advise that rest in bed is of great importance. The poor victim is kept in his room for weeks at a time.

Various forms of medication are advised. The family doctor must determine what to do in a particular case.

Perhaps the thing of chief value is the proper feeding of the patient. Much depends on giving an abundance of good food.

Many special diets have been recommended in pernicious anemia. Things that are easy of digestion and capable of improving the general nourishment of the body, have been agreed upon as valuable. We too, can agree to this, because it should be the test to apply to all our eating, in health as well as in disease.

A full quota of protein food, supplied by milk and the vegetables, is important. The importance of the protein foods is the reason why muscle meat and liver have been so highly recommended.

In pernicious anemia the blood building processes of the body are seriously reduced. To overcome this defect we must give blood building foods. One of the best of these is liver, perhaps calf's liver because it is less fat.

The liver may be taken broiled, baked, minced, or made into soup. It should be prepared without fat because this food element is harmful in the disease we are considering.

Green vegetables, fruits, sweet potatoes, as well as the other foods I have mentioned, are useful in pernicious anemia. These are a few suggestions which may be helpful in its control.

Injunction Granted

A permanent injunction has been granted against the board of education of New Waterford from awarding a contract for the erection of an addition to a school building to the Laird Bros. "The board should not have received any bids after the advertised time," the judge read in his decision. "We cannot set aside a law as a matter of convenience. The board now knows that it can obtain a lower proposal than it has received, and it is up to the board whether or not it will advertise for new bids. The board should advertise for new bids."

Lancaster, O., April 18.—The usual order of things was reversed near here yesterday afternoon, and today Harold Groves, 21, "hitch-hiker" was minus $25.

HOUSE

In the house, backers of the "Hoover Plan" were confident that they could beat off attempts to substitute either the DeBenture Plan or the old McNary-Haugen Bill with its equalization fee.

Rep. Haugen of Iowa, chairman of the House Agricultural committee, announced that a point of order would be raised against the DeBenture Plan as a substitute on the ground that it is not germane to the bill under consideration. This point of order was sustained by former farm relief fights, he said.

It was admitted, however, that the equalization fee plan would have to be considered if it is proposed. Under the plan of house leaders there will be general debate for three days, reading of the bill for amendment on Monday and probable passage by Tuesday or Wednesday. Any great demand of members for time, however, will result in continuation of the general debate.

HOOVER

Senator Smoot has always been a stickler for senatorial prerogatives in the matter of tariff legislation. "What is the use," inquired Smoot, after a secret meeting of the finance committee, "of going over all the matter which has been heard by the ways and means committee?" Abandonment of public hearings by the senate admittedly would shorten the session by several weeks at least. However, when senatorial constituents, disappointed by

NILES BANKER

(Continued from Page 1) customs officials along the Canadian border to be on the lookout for the missing secretary. He was last seen at 8 o'clock Monday night and is known to have filled the tank of his automobile with gasoline shortly before.

Police today scouted the theory that the missing man may have been the victim of foul play. Friends have related that he had been interested in the stock market. W. C. Stealy, of the state banking department began an examination Tuesday, working steadily for about 24 hours at the end of which he reported that no shortages were apparent in accounts on mortgages, loans, notes, bonds or securities.

It was learned, however, that a shortage is feared in pass books, though a definite check has not yet been possible.

The McKinley bank, a $1,500,000 institution, stands on the site of the birthplace of William McKinley, martyred president.

Prominent in Niles The missing banker was prominent in fraternal and church activities here and was never known to have been in financial difficulties previously. Nothing has so stirred the town in years as his disappearance.

He is married and has two sons, one of whom is a student at Bethany college in West Virginia. His family believes he is suffering from amnesia, pointing out that he has been in a highly nervous condition for some time past.

Bank officials announced today that there was practically no chance of the depositors suffering any loss, even if shortages as high as $50,000 are revealed.

THERE IS A DIFFERENCE IN GASOLINE

There IS a difference in gasoline. Yet we do not ask you to take our word for this. We do not care to support Sohio with extravagant claims of increased mileage, greater power, more speed. We simply say this—"Put Sohio in your own car. Test it any way you wish. Let your own motor demonstrate Sohio's unique and superior qualities."

Sohio is on sale at more than 700 Standard Service Stations and by thousands of dealers

TEST THIS NEW FUEL IN YOUR OWN CAR

- 1 Put it in a car that knocks
- 2 Use it in high-compression motors
- 3 Check your mileage
- 4 Test it for power on hills
- 5 Note minimum oil dilution
- 6 Check its starting quality everywhere in Ohio. Drive up to a Red-White-and-Blue Standard Service Station or pump today. Ask for high-test Sohio gasoline. Try it in your own car—test it in your own way.

RED CROWN GASOLINE

We make Red Crown in the same great plants that produce Sohio, because our customers are educated to a better grade of fuel than ordinary motor gasolines such as we might buy in the open market.

Salem High Meets Alliance, Lisbon In Track Meet Saturday

Opening Event Brings Together Traditional Foes At Reilly Field

Salem, Lisbon, and Alliance, three uncertain quantities in northeastern Ohio track circles, will clash at Reilly Stadium Saturday afternoon in the season's opening district high school competition. None of the aggregations is considered to have any great strength, the meet being set as only a practice affair for each.

The fact that the event is considered only a "feeler" for the coaches in charge decreases not a bit from the intense rivalry that has been aired at each affair involving struggles for supremacy between this trio. Lisbon for years was Salem's greatest county foe in track. Alliance is always given the same classification in district rivalry.

Coaches Wilbur Springer and J. M. Ruffner worked their charges outdoors whenever possible, but continued rainings made only a few available. The inter-class meet of last Friday has been the only real practice the Red and Black tracksters have had, and with the apparent overwhelming weaknesses in most of the events, Salem will have to extend itself exceedingly to avoid a pasting in this opening event.

Alliance Team Weak

Coach George Wilcoxon is up against a situation very analogous to the Salem predicament, as only a few veteran Red and Blue performers returned this season. Last year's Alliance team wasn't any worse as such things go, and the outlook for the coming season is just as bleak if not worse, according to Alliance fandom.

Lisbon probably has as many lettermen back as both Salem and Alliance put together, and the present outlook is that the county seat combination will put up a mighty stiff fight for honors in every meet it competes in this season. Years ago, before Salem started its campaign towards supremacy in all lines of county and district athletic competition, Lisbon was classed as the outstanding contender for the county track championship.

In those bygone days, sport events between the Red and Black and Lisbon used to be one of the big events of the schedule of both schools. Spectators were always given thrills of watching what was continually the hardest fought battle of the year, no matter what sport it was, for Salem didn't always have it as easy as it has in the past four years. Now, with Salem far below par, the county seat lads have their best chance in years of getting their long awaited revenge.

Veterans to Compete

Winners of the various events in the intramural meet will be used as Springer's representatives, together with the lettermen, who were barred from the meet. Glenn Whinnery, Ed Sidinger, Johnny Floyd, Hutchison, Bill Smith, Bob VanBlaricom, and John Terry are last year's regulars. Ed Beck, freshman who led the point-making at the class event, will probably get the call in three or four events, as will Len Yates, another frosh of promising calibre. Glenn Whinnery looked fair in the 100 and both Scott and Cox have chances of getting some place in the high hurdles and 440. Henry Reese and Beck looked good in the low hurdles.

Harold Walker, if he can knock off a few seconds from his time in the mile, can do the Red and Black a lot of good in meets this season. Brantingham and Todd are other distance event contenders who loom as varsity material. Terry and Hipple should hold up the shot putting end in fair shape, while Bill Smith can handle the discus around 100 feet, a mighty good mark this early in the season.

Coaches Make Progress. A glance at the results of last week's competition shows that work of the Salem coaching staff has not been wasted. Every lad showed marked progress, and it may be that still greater steps will be taken before the season is up. If so, Salem will pack a threat, though not as strong as in past seasons, but one that will give plenty of opponents a tough struggle for laurels.

Red And Black Starts Baseball Season Friday

The Salem High school baseball team will play its first game of the season, Friday afternoon, meeting Warren High at Warren.

Coach Floyd Stone's proteges will enter the conflict with little outdoor practice, due to inclement weather which has made workouts at Reilly Stadium impossible, and chance for a victory over the veteran Warren combine are slim.

Stone is unable to announce what his starting lineup will be, and will probably take a squad of about 20 players on the trip to give as many as possible a chance in action.

Most of the practices have been held in the school gymnasium and Stone has not had an opportunity to pick a regular variety.

Detroit—The city collected $16,256,794 in automobile taxes for the year ending March 31. This is an increase of $2,077,129 over the taxes collected during the previous year.

Denver—"The Vanishing American" seems to have reversed the trend of affairs in the Centennial state, for the Indian population of Colorado has gained 45 during two years, according to Tolbert Ingram of the state board of immigration.

VOL. III	APRIL 18, 1929	NO. 16
Let's see. What's next on the spring program? Oh, yes! The chigger season.	More signs of spring—A brisk demand for cold drinks around the soda fountain.	"Unmarried?" "Yes. Twice!"
The time does really fly at that. It's blamed near time for the old straw hat.	Better call us and order your garden tools, lawn mower, roller and Old Gardener fertilizer.	Brighten up with paints and varnishes, from Burns.
Before you store your winter apparel, spray your wardrobe with P.I.T. It prevents moths.	The mushroom season again suggests the old test: If you live, they are—If you don't, they aren't.	We've come to the conclusion that a woman can sharpen a pencil, if you give her plenty of time and plenty of pencil.
Ever notice? It seems to be human nature for the lady to get into the Ford first, and let the man contortionate himself in behind the wheel.		Did you ever try either Murphy's or Reed's Paint and Carpet Cleaner? Both are very good.

Cleveland, April 18.—Detroit swamped Cleveland, 15 to 3, in the second game of the season here yesterday and collected 18 hits from three Cleveland pitchers in doing it. George Uhle, big right hand pitcher, whom Cleveland traded to Detroit at the close of last season, had his revenge. Earl Averil, Cleveland's brilliant recruit outfielder, hit his second home run in as many days.

McGraw Covets Second Sacker Of Phillies

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

New York, April 18.—Maybe it isn't good cricket to be talking about a man behind his back but I think all the whistle-blowers ought to know that John McGraw probably is breaking one of the ten commandments so hard today that they won't be able to put it together again with a patent riveter. John is perfectly satisfied to let the neighbor have his wife but is doing a lot of first class coveting of that gentleman's goods and the reason I know this is that the New York correspondents, traveling with the Giants, are busy today telling their readers about the great things John can do for the Philadelphia ball club.

And what can the Phillies do for John? Just so, Wolfgang, my boy. They can give him Fresco Thompson, their second baseman. They can but, unless I mistake their Mr. Shotton, I don't believe they will.

However, there is much dialogue being aired in New York about a Giant-Philadelphia trade, which means that John, the greatest man for overlooking a player he has been looking over, is back in his old time stride. He needed at least two looks at Roush and Groh, for example, and the second glance in each case cost him about twice as much as plenty. This Thompson not only was with the New York club between the setting of one sun and the rising of another several years ago, he grew up in the town and played a lot of High school baseball only a trolley car ride from the polo grounds.

Of course, this is being a bit harsh with our Mr. McGraw. He has turned up more than his share of big leaguers during the last twenty years but the fact is that when he muffs one, he does it so elaborately that everybody scores standing up. And by the looks of things,

WRIGHT TAXI CO.

FOR TRUCKING OF ALL KINDS AT REASONABLE PRICES. DAY OR NIGHT.

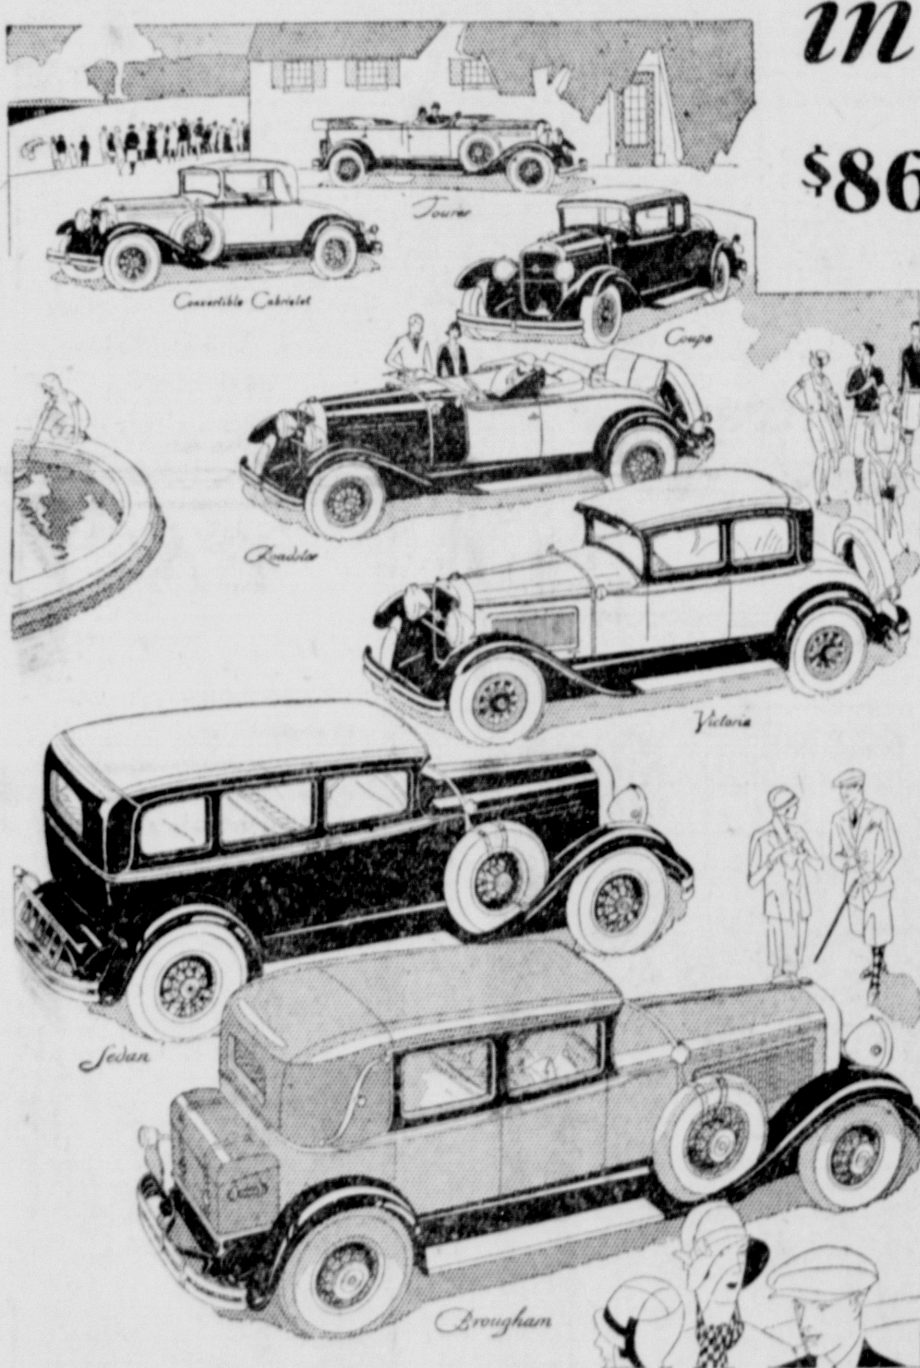

he muffed Thompson so badly that he will stay muffed.
For one thing, Shotton has only to wait until Thevenow recovers and he will have an infield without the necessity of consulting Mr. McGraw. For another, the recent history of trading between the New York and Philadelphia clubs has been like a waiter's shirt front—all one sided.
Some few years ago, John needed three or four bowlers and took Dave Bancroft. About the same time, he found he needed a right hand hitting outfielder and sent in another order of bowlers and took Irish Meusel. These magnificent transactions promoted John into four straight pennants and a major league record between 1921 and 1924.

In Playhouses Of Salem

"The Trail of '98", a picturization of the great gold rush on the Yukon valley in 1898, rated as one of the greatest celicoid vehicles ever cinemized, annexes honors in Salem theatre circles during the remaining three days of the week, starting a three-nights' run at the State theatre.

At the Royal, this evening, "Floating College," a fine story of youthful love of modern days, has its final showing. "Revenge" and Brownlee's Hickville Follies close a four-days' stay at the Grand.

"Talkies" and sound pictures will make their debut in Salem to stay within the next month, Virgil Rakestraw, manager of the State and Grand theatres having announced that he is carrying on negotiations to bring the device to one of his playhouses for the past week. He has made no definite statement as to which theatre will be equipped with the vitaphone, being undecided as yet.

"TRAIL OF '98"

A picture of tense, powerful appeal, great magnitude, and brilliant acting by an extraordinary cast.

That is the terse description of "The Trail of '98", the great film epic of gold rushes as are and have been. Ralph Forbes, Dolores Del Rio, Harry Carey, Karl Dane, Tully Marshall, George Cooper—characters who stand out in movie world play leading roles in the play, which includes a cast of more than 50 great screen personalities.

The story begins with the gathering of people from all parts of the globe at San Francisco, where they set sail for the Yukon. And ends with the great confusion reduced Dawson City to a heap of smouldering ashes. It shows in all its thrilling detail the maddest scramble for the gold that the world has ever seen. Authentic locales and authentic incidents from history are all vividly portrayed. It shows the trek inland over treacherous fields of snow where many lost their lives over the dangerous crossing of the Chilkoot Pass, the roaring rapids at the Yukon. The settings, however, majestic and magnificent as they are, are merely background for the love story of a boy and girl, a young and daring prospector and a dance hall girl of Dawson City's Monte Carlo.

"FLOATING COLLEGE"

The cruise of "The Floating College" is an hilarious succession of collegiate gaieties, surrounding the sisters' pursuit, culminating in the elder sister's amazing tour de force and its totally unexpected climax. The story describes the escapades of two sisters to annex the affections of the handsome young swimming teacher at their country club. The younger sister uses the direct-method system popular nowadays with the younger generation, but the elder sister complains to their father that Pat is making a fool of herself over the young man, suggesting she be sent off on the floating college cruise, intending to leave the field free for herself.

To her dismay she discovers the young man is a member of the floating college faculty, so she is forced to fly after the ship and join in the cruise in order, so her father fondly believes, to see that her little sister behaves herself. Meanwhile the young man, at first quite unconscious of either of them, discovers that the younger one is constantly getting into scrapes or helping him out of them after her sister has gotten him into a compromising position.

"REVENGE"

A cast of brilliant players supports Miss Del Rio in "Revenge." Leroy Mason as Jorga, the bandit, plays his role with romantic realism. Rita Carewe, as a jealous gypsy girl, gives a finished performance that is human and sympathetic. Jose Crespo, as a young dreamer, and James Marcus, as the screen father of Miss Del Rio, are entirely adequate.

The story dealt with the life of an unlabeled, wild spirited gypsy girl, the daughter of the Rumanian King of the Gypsy bear-tamers.

There are several unusual dramatic climaxes in the picture that place "Revenge" in the galaxy of screen achievements.

THE HOME KITCHEN

By Jeannette Young Norton

"I'll try anything once."

I know any number of housekeepers who gaily admit the policy, and you may be sure there's no monotony in their menus. Keeping on the lookout for new kinds of food gives a pleasant kick to the job of cooking. Also, curiosity tempts the family appetite. And there's no end to the variety which the market offers. Grocers seem to stay awake nights thinking up ways to ship fruits and vegetables cut of season, or sauteed strawberries in winter are no longer a luxury confined to the idle rich. Each year we see more unfamiliar species of foods—and they're always worth trying, at least once. You may thus add a pleasing new food, and very often it happens that it is a type of food which is good for you, but which you don't like in common forms.

Take broccoli, for instance. It has been on the American market only a few years, and has become enormously popular. You probably know it—a thick bunch with stalks like celery, except that they are a very deep green, and tops like cauliflower. Now, broccoli is a kind of cauliflower, has much the same flavor, and the same texture. Yet a lot of people who dislike cauliflower like broccoli. (It may be just perversity, or because broccoli costs more than cauliflower. Anyway, most people do like it.)

Or fat looks. Leeks are a branch of the onion family, but they are milder in flavor. Hardly anybody is willing to admit a fondness for onions. Yet onions contain useful mineral salts and have a real place in the diet. So if the family won't eat onions, feed them leeks occasionally. The French boil the leeks using the thick, fleshy stalks with plenty of bright green tops, and then serving them hot with a cream sauce, or chilled with French dressing, as a salad. They treat them like asparagus, and some claim they taste even better!

Then there's okra—which makes you think of southern gumbo, but which is useful in other ways. Okra is now common enough in most city markets. It is about the size of string beans, but has five sharp ridges along its length and a fuzzy surface. Inside it isummy—just enough to thicken soups or sauces slightly. You can see boxes of okra in the better fruit and vegetable markets and they may be sold by the dozen pods, or by the pound. A few, sliced into soups or sauces, or added to vegetables like tomatoes, squash, celery, pepper or mixed with meat or shellfish stews, change the dish most delightfully.

And several times I have been a little amazed to hear housekeepers of experience say that they do not know eggplant. This vegetable has been on the market for many years—indeed, while once available only in summer, they are now shipped from the South and you can get them most of the year. A good eggplant is deep purple, the shape of a pear, and not more than six inches around. The very large eggplants are not so good—they may be tough and seedy. And they should be light for their size. Too heavy means lots of seeds.

Egg plant is one of the easiest and quickest vegetables to prepare. They need no soaking. Just slice about one-half inch thick, peel the purple rind and fry slowly in butter. Don't bother dipping in egg or bread-crumbs, as this makes a greasy crust not so good for the digestion. Light frying will provide a golden brown surface to the eggplant, and is more wholesome. Sprinkle with salt and pepper just before serving.

"I was determined to have a Clear Skin"

A CLEAR, smooth, lovely skin speaks rich, red blood. It is Nature's outward reflection of the condition within you.

Men and women, both justly covet admiration. Everyone can expect such satisfaction to its fullest extent if they are the possessors of a clear unblemished skin.

If you are unfortunate in having skin blemishes, pimples, boils, eczema—you owe it to yourself and friends to remove the cause. Nature will then provide the complexion which is so much desired.

S.S.S. has been a blessing to millions of people who have taken advantage of its wonderful medicinal properties. It gives to Nature what it needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

When your system is filled with rich, red blood, the body's power of resistance to infection and disease is raised. Your appetite improves; firm flesh takes the place of that which was once flabby. You sleep soundly. You feel strong. Your nerves become steady. S.S.S. helps Nature build red-blood-cells.

Take S.S.S. daily at mealtime. Seek energy, vitality, and a clear skin, through the great blood tonic which is made from fresh vegetable drugs and has stood the test of over 100 years. All good drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

Paris, April 12—Clean-cut lines, and chic simplicity mark the tailored clothes seen in all the smart collections for spring. And this, in spite of the fact that there is absolutely no trace of masculinity about them. Garçon touches have completely disappeared.

Quiet distinguished ensembles have lines which are very simple but smart. A long coat is trimmed with velvet and a two-piece tailored frock has leather trimmings and a gilet of leather. Attractive three and four-piece ensembles have the coat of a heavy tweed mixture, the color of which is recalled in the crepe de Chine dress worn under it. often made with a sleeveless jacket to match.

An original model comes in brown and red tweed, cut along classical lines, with a barely perceptible movement to indicate the waistline. Five fancy buttons in red and steel are placed close together down the front and the two pockets are closed by steel zippers.

Another beige reversible tweed coat which will be very popular for summer travelling has a large re-

MOVIES

In Playhouses Of Salem

"The Trail of '98", a picturization of the great gold rush on the Yukon valley in 1898, rated as one of the greatest celicid vehicles ever cinemized, annexes honors in Salem theatre circles during the remaining three days of the week, starting a three-nights' run at the State tonight.

At the Royal, this evening, "Floating College," a fine story of youthful love of modern days, has its final showing. "Revenge" and Brownlee's Hickville Follies close a four-days' stay at the Grand.

"Talkies" and sound pictures will make their debut in Salem to stay within the next month, Virgil Rakestraw, manager of the State and Grand theatres having announced that he is carrying on negotiations to bring the device to one of his playhouses for the past week. He has made no definite statement as to which theatre will be equipped with the vitaphone, being undecided as yet.

"TRAIL OF '98"

A picture of tense, powerful appeal, great magnitude, and brilliant acting by an extraordinary cast.

That is the terse description of "The Trail of '98", the great film epic of gold rushes as are and have been. Ralph Forbes, Dolores Del Rio, Harry Carey, Karl Dane, Tully Marshall, George Cooper—characters who stand out in movie world play leading roles in the play, which includes a cast of more than 50 great screen personalities.

The story begins with the gathering of people from all parts of the globe at San Francisco, where they set sail for the Yukon, and ends with the great conflagration reduced Dawson City to a heap of smouldering ashes. It shows in all its thrilling detail the maddest scramble for the gold that the world has ever seen. Authentic local and authentic incidents from history are all vividly portrayed. It shows the trek inland over treacherous fields of snow where many lost their lives over the dangerous crossing of the Chilkoot Pass, the roaring rapids at the Yukon. The settings, however, majestic and magnificent as they are, are merely background for the love story of a boy and girl, a young and daring prospector and a dance hall girl of Dawson City's Monte Carlo.

"FLOATING COLLEGE"

The cruise of "The Floating College" is an hilarious succession of collegiate gaieties surrounding the sisters' pursuit, culminating in the elder sister's amazing tour de force and his totally unexpected climax.

The story describes the escapades of two sisters to annex the affections of the handsome young swimming teacher at their country club. The younger sister uses the direct-method system popular nowadays with the younger generation, but the elder sister complains to their father that Pat is making a fool of herself over the young man, suggesting she be sent off on the floating college cruise, intending to leave the field free for herself.

To her dismay she discovers the young man is a member of the floating college faculty, so she is forced to fly after the ship and join in the cruise in order, so her father fondly believes, to see that her little sister behaves herself. Meanwhile the young man, at first quite unconscious of either of them, discovers that the younger one is constantly getting into scrapes or helping him out of them after her sister has gotten him into a compromising position.

"REVENGE"

A cast of brilliant players supports Miss Del Rio in "Revenge." Leroy Mason as Jorga, the bandit, plays his role with romantic realism. Rita Carewe as a jealous gypsy girl, gives a finished performance that is human and sympathetic. Jose Crespo, as a young dreamer, and James Marcus, as the screen father of Miss Del Rio, are entirely adequate.

The story deals with the life of an unlabeled, wild spirited gypsy girl, the daughter of the Rumanian King of the Gypsy bear-tamers. There are several unusual dramatic climaxes in the picture that place "Revenge" in the galaxy of screen achievements.

THE HOME KITCHEN

By Jeannette Young Norton

"I'll try anything once."

I know any number of housekeepers who gaily admit the policy, and you may be sure there's no monotony in their menus. Keeping on the lookout for new kinds of food gives a pleasant kick to the job of cooking. Also, curiosity tempts in most city dwellers. And there's no end to the variety which the market offers. Grocers seem to stay awake nights thinking up ways to ship fruits and vegetables cut of season, and strawberries in winter are no longer a luxury confined to the idle rich. Each year we see more unfamiliar species of foods—and they're always worth trying—at least once. You may thus add a pleasing new food, and very often it happens that it is a type of food which is good for you, but which you don't like in common forms.

Take broccoli, for instance. It has been on the American market only a few years, and has become enormously popular. You probably know it—a thick bunch with stalks like celery, except that they are a very deep green, and tops like cauliflower. Now, broccoli is a kind of cauliflower, has the same texture. Yet a lot of people who dislike cauliflower like broccoli. It may be just perversity, or because broccoli costs more than cauliflower. Anyway, most people do like it.

Or fat leeks. Leeks are a branch of the onion family, but they are milder in flavor. Hardly anybody is willing to admit a fondness for onions. Yet leeks contain useful mineral salts and have a real place in the diet. So if the family won't eat onions, feed them leeks occasionally. The French boil the leeks using the thick, fleshy stalks with plenty of bright green tops, and then serving them hot with a cream sauce, or chilled with French dressing as a salad. They treat them like asparagus, and some claim they taste even better! Then there's okra—which makes you think of southern gumbo, but which is useful in other ways. Okra is now common enough in most city markets. It is about the size of string beans, but has five sharp edges along its length and a fuzzy surface. Inside it is summy—just enough to thicken soups or sauces slightly. You can see boxes of okra in the better fruit and vegetable markets and they may be sold by the dozen pods, or by the pound. A few, sliced into soups or sauces, or added to vegetable like tomatoes, squash, celery, pepper or mixed with meat or shellfish steaks, change the dish most delightfully.

And several times I have been a little amazed to hear housekeepers of experience say that they do not know what a vegetable like tomato, indeed, while once available only in summer, they are now shipped from the South and you can get them most of the year. A good eggplant is deep purple, the shape of a pear, and not more than six inches around. The very large eggplants are not so good—they may be tough and seedy. And they should be light for their size. Too heavy means lots of seeds.

Egg plant is one of the easiest and quickest vegetables to prepare. They need no soaking. Just slice about one-half inch thick, peel the purple rind and fry slowly in butter. Don't bother dipping in egg or bread-crumbs, as this makes a greasy crust not so good for the digestion. Light frying will provide a golden brown surface to the eggplant, and is more wholesome. Sprinkle with salt and pepper just before serving.

"I was determined to have a Clear Skin"

A CLEAR, smooth, lovely skin bespeaks rich, red blood. It is Nature's outward reflection of the condition within you.

Men and women, both justly covet admiration. Everyone can expect such satisfaction to its fullest extent if they are the possessors of a clear unblemished skin.

If you are unfortunate in having skin blemishes, pimples, boils, eczema—you owe it to yourself and friends to remove the cause. Nature will then provide the complexion which is so much desired.

S.S.S. has been a blessing to millions of people who have taken advantage of its wonderful medicinal properties. It gives to Nature what it needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

When your system is filled with rich, red blood, the body's power

of resistance to infection and disease is raised. Your appetite improves; firm flesh takes the place of that which was once flabby. You sleep soundly. You feel strong. Your nerves become steady. S.S.S. helps Nature build red-blood-cells.

Take S.S.S. daily at mealtime. Seek energy, vitality, and a clear skin, through the great blood tonic which is made from fresh vegetable drugs and has stood the test of over 100 years. All good drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

Paris, April 12—Clean-cut lines and chic simplicity mark the tailored clothes seen in all the smart collections for spring. And this, in spite of the fact that there is absolutely no trace of masculinity about them. Garçon touches have completely disappeared.

Quiet distinguished ensembles have lines which are very simple but smart. A long coat is trimmed with velvet and a two-piece tailored frock has leather trimmings and a gilet of leather. Attractive three and four-piece ensembles have the coat of a heavy tweed mixture, the color of which is recalled in the crepe de Chine dress worn under it. Often made with a sleeveless jacket to match.

An original model comes in brown and red tweed, cut along classical lines, with a barely perceptible movement to indicate the waistline. Five fancy buttons in red and steel are placed close together down the front and the two pockets are closed by steel zippers.

Another beige reversible tweed coat which will be very popular for summer travelling has a large re-

In Three Days Prove That You Can Overcome Stubborn Indigestion

"Henry Back" Says Bolger & French, Hocking Drug Store, J. H. Lease Drug Co. "If One Bottle Doesn't Do You More Good Than Anything You Ever Used."

After you have taken Dare's Mentha Pepsin for 3 days you will, we are sure, prove to yourself that at last you have found a stomach medicine that won't fail.

Case don't think of Dare's Mentha Pepsin as one of those "relievers" that may help for a couple of hours but do no lasting good.

Better take it for what it is—a pleasant to take elixir that besides giving instant relief tones up and invigorates your weak, ailing, disordered stomach so that it will in a short time be able to digest the heaviest meal without a sign of gas, sourness, belching or acidity.

The tremendous sales of Dare's Mentha Pepsin prove it to be the one supremely good remedy for stubborn indigestion. Adv.
